CHARITIES FACE ADMIN FEE HIKE

EDDC proposal to raise cost of street markets

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

CHARITY street markets in Seaton could be set to face a hike in the administration fee charged by East Devon District Council (EDDC).

The EDDC executive board, which will be meeting tomorrow (Wednesday), has recommended approval for the plan, that will also affect street markets in Sidmouth, to increase the fee it charges from £15 to £20 for street markets in the seaside town.

Figures show that street trading income received by the district council from street markets across east Devon this financial year stands at £8,610. If the new charges are approved EDDC is hopeful of raising an extra £2,700 bringing the total fees for the next financial year to approximately £10,880 — an increase of 33 per cent.

A spokesman for EDDC said: "In 2009 changes were made to the designation of some streets in Seaton to enable street trading to continue to take place in the town. The facility is not greatly used, however, when it is used the majority of the trading is organised by charities to raise money for local causes.

"Whilst the administration and policing of normal consents is quite staff intensive the procedure agreed for the Seaton charitable consents is less onerous for the council as the charity both run and police the market under one consent.

"The Seaton charity markets have been in existence for some years and currently requires only a small input from the council hence the recommendation that the single existing consent fee be increased by only £5 — from £15 to £20.

"Whilst perhaps not covering all the administration costs it will cover most of it."

If the proposal is approved by the executive board the recommendation will then go forward to the full council for approval. If approved by the full council the new charges will come into effect from April 1st this year.

Doctor trio takes on the Grizzly for care service

A TRIO of running doctors will be on the Grizzly start line on Sunday, March 13th — raising money for a much-valued service.

Dr Joe Pitt from Townsend House Medical Centre, Dr Roger Bramley and Dr Joe Kent from Seaton and Colyton Medical Practice are in training for the race.

Apart from the challenge of completing the gruelling race, they are running to raise money for the Home Nursing Service via Seaton and Hospital League of Friends.

Dr Pitt, who chairs Seaton and District Hospital League of Friends, said: "The Home Nursing Service, which the league has committed to funding a total of £250,000 over the next five years, has proved itself to be a fantastic service within our community for patients who are always very vulnerable and sick, and often in the last phase of their lives.

"We all feel very strongly the merits of supporting this service in anyway we can, and this is one small way we can show our own commitment to it.

"We seek our communities support for the effort we ourselves are prepared to make both by coming out to cheer ourselves and, indeed, all the runners on — and also by sponsoring us.

"Any donation large or small are very welcome."

Sponsor forms can be found in both Seaton practices and their branch surgeries in Beer and Colyton as well as in Seaton Hospital and the league of friends shop in Fore Street, Seaton.

Pool cash is 106 funding

FURTHER to the story last week about Seaton Primary School's swimming pool being turned in to a community asset, the potential £50,000 grant would come from what is known as Section 106 money.

A Section 106 agreement is a part of the planning process in which developers pay an amount of money towards certain improvements in or near the areas being developed.

Seaton Town Council works with the planning authority, East Devon District Council, on Section 106 grant allocation matters — but does not commit its own funds.

Small town scene of five crimes

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

COLYTON was the scene of five crimes last month, according to figures released by police.

Three burglaries took place in the town and two assaults were also recorded.

On Saturday, January 1st, a man was assaulted in Dolphin Street. Police say the offender was a 19-year-old man and he has been dealt with by way of restorative justice

Three burglaries took place over three days between Monday, January 17th, and Wednesday, January 19th.

A second assault was reported in Mount View on Thursday, January 27th. The victim received minor injuries.

One crime was reported in Axmouth. Overnight between Wednesday, January 19th, and Thursday, January 20th, a pane of glass was broken in a front door in Chapel Street.

In Beer, police were called to three offences last month.

Between Sunday and Monday, January

2nd and 3rd, a stone planter in Fore Street and a window at the Steam Gallery were damaged.

A trailer was stolen from a field near the A3052 on Wednesday, January 5th.

Rousdon and Combyne was the scene of one offence. Sometime between Wednesday, January 19th, and Tuesday, January 25th, a residential property on the A3052 was broken into.

No offences were recorded in Branscombe, Farway, Northleigh or Southleigh.

PC Steve Speariett, Seaton rural neighbourhood beat manager, said: "This month's crime totals continue to be below the long term average of 20 crimes between 2004 and 2010.

"We are concerned about the increase in burglaries to outbuildings and the two burglaries to residential properties.

"If you see any suspicious vehicles or people please call in with the information or use 999 if appropriate."

To contact Seaton police call 08452 777444. Alternatively contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Officials say new drop-in centre will be enormous benefit

CITIZEN Advice Bureau (CAB) officials are convinced its new service in Seaton will be of enormous benefit.

As previously reported, CAB will open a drop-in advice outreach centre on Wednesday, February 9th.

The facility will be open every Wednesday from 9.30am-12.30pm in premises provided by Seaton Hospital League of Friends in the Community Resource Centre, Fore Street.

CAB manager (east Devon) Chris Griffiths is pleased to come to Seaton and said: "We have been in discussion with Seaton Town Council for a number of months regarding the need for our service in the town.

"Both of us are convinced that a bureau outlet will be of enormous benefit to the people of Seaton. Our mission as an organisation is to provide the help people need for the problems they face.

"This mission is not limited to any one set of people or one area and whilst we expect the bulk of our clients to be from Seaton we would always see people from other areas if they were to approach us for help and advice."

500 mourners remember Pip

HUNDREDS of mourners attended Uplyme Church for the funeral of Philippa Corbin.

Philippa, 27, was known as Pip and played a leading role in the River Cottage Canteen enterprise in Axminster.

She died on Friday, January 21st.

River Cottage founder Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall was among mourners at the funeral on Thursday, February 3rd.

As previously reported, he has paid a glowing tribute to Philippa, saying she was "a bright spark with a real passion for locally-produced, ethical, artisan food".

Because of the huge number of mourners, two marquees were erected in the churchyard to accommodate everyone.

An audio link was provided from the church to the marquees so that everyone could follow the service.

Reverend Gavin Tyte estimated that more than 500 people attended the funeral.

Study underway to gauge possibility of passenger boat bid

By ANDERS LARSSON
anderson@indlenews.co.uk

A STUDY is underway to establish if there is any mileage in setting up a network of small-scale passenger boats along the Jurassic Coast, for commuters and tourists alike.

If the vision materialises, there could be an east Devon route connecting Sidmouth, Seaton, Lyme Regis and West Bay.

The Jurassic Coast World Heritage and Dorset Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty teams have a vision of a network of small-scale, privately operated passenger boat services along the UK's first natural World Heritage Site and beyond.

An initial report has already been published by the teams behind the Waterborne Transport Study.

The report stated: "Road traffic has grown on some sections of coastal roads by between 23 to 34 per cent in just 11 years.

"Community attitude surveys relating to tourism in the southwest show that one of the few consistent areas of concern relate to car-related issues, and the east Devon and Dorset road infrastructure is under particular pressure.

"Even if the rate of growth of traffic slows in the future relative to historic trends, it is simply not sustainable to consider that ever increasing traffic can be accommodated on ever improving roads on the Jurassic Coast, particularly considering the potential long-term loss of roads and parking due to coastal erosion. A 'Plan B' is essential."

Whilst those behind the project admit there are potential problems like tidal issues, a possible lack of depth, quay space and so on, they claim perception is the greatest barrier.

The report authors said: "The major barriers to development of greater use of water transport for passengers are perceptual, rather than related to the marine environment or regulatory issues.

"The overall perception of the stakeholder community is that it cannot be done — even though it can.

"The perception is that it is too difficult to tackle — even though it isn't.

"We consider that these perceptions exist because the stakeholder community is not organised or coherent enough to recognise and change them.

"Thus water-based passenger transport is not on the public policy agenda, and therefore not on the funding agenda. Nine times out of ten, the solution to transport problems is more road capacity.

"When will this lacuna of strategic thinking be filled?"

"An immediate and significant change in attitude is needed now if this is to happen.

"We do not underestimate how difficult this will be, but let us be clear that this is achievable. "Stamina, patience and partnership will be essential."

The project is part of Dorset County Council's (DCC) work to create a new local transport plan, and a DCC spokesman said: "A network of passenger boat services, integrated with existing transport connections, could provide a sustainable travel option for visitors, local people and commuters along the Jurassic Coast and extending into Poole Bay and Torbay.

"An initial scoping report in 2009 showed that waterborne transport could provide a realistic and popular alternative for both everyday and leisure journeys.

"A small survey found that 84 per cent of those asked would be interested in travelling by boat.

"The Jurassic Coast team is inviting the people of Dorset and Devon to have their say on waterborne transport as part of the draft Bournemouth, Poole and Dorset Local Transport Plan 3, which is currently out for consultation."

The complete report, more information and an opportunity to comment are available online at <http://www.jurassiccoast.com> via the Draft Stage 2 Waterborne Transport Study link.

Quiz nights are held regularly at the pub and the annual Christmas quiz always attracts the punters, says Graham Quinlan, of Honiton Wine Bar.

He said: "Our quiz nights are always popular and our charity Christmas quiz has now become a tradition. Despite these difficult times, people's generosity towards such worthy causes is amazing."

In total £275 was raised for children's cancer charity CLIC Sargent.

The quiz nights are usually held on the first Sunday of the month and Graham added that everyone is welcome to attend.

Raymond treads boards just like his father did... oh, yes he does!

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@indlenews.co.uk

A STOCKLAND man says performing on the stage is in his blood.

Raymond Fletcher has been involved in the local amateur dramatic scene since he was a child and will this year be taking on a part played by his father in 1954.

At the age of 14 he made his big stage debut at the Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis, taking on a leading part in Cinderella.

Since then Mr Fletcher has carried on the family tradition and has always performed in the seaside town.

"I had a part in the chorus of Cinderella but then one of the main actors went down with illness the day before the show. I had been out at a dance that night and when I got home the producer was sat in my kitchen and he asked if I could take on this leading part," said Mr Fletcher.

"I love acting and have always been able to learn lines quickly so naturally I jumped at the chance and since then I have had a lot of leading roles."

The former military man and full time magician says it was his father who inspired him to tread the boards.

He said: "Dad had always been in pantomime. He would play the dame and comedy parts and he was a really cracking actor. I guess it was through him that I first got involved with the Lyme Regis Pantomime Society."

"I love performing in Lyme. The society is like a real family and it is such a good group, everyone gets involved. The wives help with the stagework and makeup and there is a lovely atmosphere that I don't think you would get with other societies."

"We all have a good party after the last show has finished."

In this year's production of Sinbad the Sailor Mr Fletcher will have two parts to play. He will play the ship's captain (the role played by his father in 1954) and he will also play the part of the Sultan (a role that he played in the 1954 show).

"Back in 1954 I had the part of the Sultan and dad had the part of the ship's captain. I was asked if I could play the part of the Sultan again this year and I was delighted," said Mr Fletcher.

"Then the director said that there weren't enough men to fill the mature roles in the show and I was asked if I could play the ship's captain. To play both parts is very unusual but I think it will be great and will be one for the scrap book."

"It will involve a lot of quick changes but I'm sure it will all be alright on the night."

Sinbad the Sailor runs from Sunday, February 22th, until Thursday, February 26th.

Tickets are available from the Lyme Regis Tourist Information Centre (TIC) in Church Street. Alternatively call the TIC on 01297 442138.

Pig farm plan gets red light

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

A CONTROVERSIAL planning application on the outskirts of Ottery St Mary has been refused by East Devon District Council (EDDC).

Chris Down, of Crealy Farms, East Budleigh, had wanted to create a pig breeding and rearing unit with slurry store and access track at land near Collyhead Farm, Venn Ottery.

The application attracted dozens of objections from neighbouring residents.

Many of the concerns centre around the smell created by the pig slurry and that the development is in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

Christopher Goodley, of Venn Ottery, said: "The main point of our objection is the need to keep secure the underground water sources in the immediate area. 30 years ago, all properties in the area received their water supply from this source, which is privately owned.

"Today, most properties in Venn Ottery are still supplied from it and we enjoy some of the purest water to be found anywhere. A slurry lagoon placed anywhere within a very considerable distance of this area must be seen as a very great threat to this system of waterways."

Janet Farrow, of Ottery St Mary, said: "If this development is allowed to go ahead it will have a considerable impact on my life and home and on others living nearby and visiting this part of east Devon.

"It is a very large industrial unit that would house several thousand animals being intensively farmed. I consider this unsuitable for an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty."

David Freeman, of Southerton, added: "The smell pollution from the slurry pit will have a major impact on surrounding properties.

"The design of this development is more akin to an industrial development which should be confined to a suitable industrial estate."

Despite the concerns of residents the Environment Agency and Highway Agency had no objections to the proposed development.

The proposal was refused by district council officials on Friday, February 4th, and a spokesman for EDDC said: "Despite the development being agricultural in nature, it fails to preserve or enhance the environment designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and as such deserving of the highest level of protection."

Horse rug stolen in village

A 6FT horse rug has been stolen from St Mary's Lane, Uplyme.

The Shires Typhoon medium turnout was further described as having a royal blue upper part and a grey lower part.

It is valued at £80 and was taken at some point between 10am and 12.30pm on Thursday, February 2nd.

The police log did not describe the exact circumstances of the theft but police say there is a possible link with a spate of horse equipment-related incidents last year.

In November last year, police received reports of tack rooms in Musbury and Trinity Hill areas being entered and equipment moved around.

On one occasion, a horse was removed from a stable and tied to a tree nearby.

Police would like people to keep an eye open and report any suspicious activity.

Anyone with information can call 08452 777 444 and ask for Axminster police. The crime reference in KA/11/30.

Friends group £715 better off

SEATON and District Hospital League of Friends is £715 better off thanks to a fundraising campaign by the town's Co-op store.

The Co-op fundraised for six months by holding a quiz evening, a raffle evening and through collection buckets at the tills.

Di Hawker of Seaton Co-op said she is very grateful to all the staff and customers for their generous donations.

League of friends manager Lycia Moore said: "The league would like to thank the Co-op for all their support since June last year and for their continued support with our other fundraising activities."

"All monies raised are for the benefit of patients at Seaton Hospital."

The cheque was presented to league of friends chairman Joe Pitt and volunteers on Tuesday, February 1st.

In the editor's shoes

Written by editorial manager
KATE WILLIAMS

The time has come to pack up my Shoes

THERE are some who may heave a mammoth sigh of relief when reading the next sentence — and there are a few who may be more than a little sad (myself included).

The time has come to hang up my Shoes column. Feel free to cry if you so wish. I'm not going anywhere, I am certainly staying put as editor but I feel it is time to concentrate on other aspects of the papers and, I'm afraid, The Shoes is getting the chop.

I have been in the editor's chair at Pulman's View for coming up for six years and I've been writing The Shoes for most of those weeks since. I have enjoyed writing this light-hearted look at life and I hope you have also enjoyed reading some of my whitherings.

I've covered a lot of ground — sometimes funny, sometimes sad, sometimes angry, occasionally controversial. Readers have come to learn a more personal side of the girl (I say girl, but I am 31 now) at the helm of the Pulman's series of newspapers — as well as a little about My Lovely Farmer (now My Lovely Husband as many of you will have learned last year).

It takes a lot out of you to write a column every week for nearly six years and it's supremely difficult to think of new and interesting topics to cover.

It is hard to keep a column of this type fresh to keep my readers, well, reading. Some may think this stopped a long time ago! Perhaps I should collate all my previous columns and collate them into a book — what a great present for a disliked relative at Christmas!

The decision has been a little while coming, although it's hard to let go of something which I hold very dear. But I need to put my time and efforts into other areas of the newspapers that I edit as the workload seems to increase on a weekly basis!

Never say never is a favourite adage of mine so, although The Shoes are going, think of them as being put into a box under the bed for a while. You never know, one day they might have the dust blown off them to make a reappearance.

However, for now, it's time to bid a farewell to this column. I would like to thank my many readers and all those who make a point of telling me that they always read my column and enjoy it. I know it's not everyone's cup of tea and I would never imply that it is but for those whose cup of tea it is, I thank you and I hope I have not overstayed my welcome.

On that note, from myself, my shoes and My Lovely Farmer — thank you.

■ You can still contact me at my email address — kate@tindlenews.co.uk as I'll be in the same place as always.

Feel free, also, to write telling me how much you loved my column, how it's the best thing you've ever read and how empty your life will be now without it, and so on.

For those who didn't like it, please don't bother writing to tell me, please do something more productive with your time as I will only make paper aeroplanes out of your letters.

◆ SOME of the Axe Valley College students who presented their plan to the business community

Cycle kit package design by students

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@lindlenews.co.uk

YEAR 10 students at Axe Valley Community College have presented a combined cycling and business project to the local business community.

As previously reported, the college is fielding a team for this year's 104-kilometre long Dartmoor Classic Cyclosportive on June 26th — a non-competitive endurance race.

But it will not only be a case of turning up on the day for those involved.

Team members are responsible for the whole package, which includes design a kit, find a suitable supplier, finance the kit and generate publicity for the project.

The kit will be worn by team members during training, during the race and during various PR events before the race to gain maximum publicity.

Eight separate advertising spaces are included in the kit design, each area being offered to local businesses at rates ranging from £75 to £350.

Approximately ten businesses turned up for a breakfast presentation at the college on Thursday, January 27th.

One of those attending was estate agent and Axminster Chamber of Commerce chairman Shane Morgan, who said: "I'm most impressed with what they are undertaking.

"It was a very good presentation and I wish them well."

The team is managed by teacher Mark Beacham, and the team members are Sam Bartlett, Rosie Clarke, Drew Dare, David Goodhew, Anna King (Year 11), Matt Rockett, Oakley Stodgell, James Blockwell, Tara Collier, Abbie Dowse, Ellie Henagulph, Alex Mortimer, Josh Short and Beth Turberville.

Businesses interested in the kit sponsorship can email Bridget Bennett at BBennett@axevalley.devon.sch.uk or Mr Beacham at MBeacham@axevalley.devon.sch.uk for more information.

Continuing tourism work

A NUMBER of key tourism players have got together to form a consortium to progress some of the work that would otherwise be lost when South West Tourism (SWT) closes at the end of March.

The overriding principle of the emerging consortium is to "support the tourism industry to improve the visitor experience in a cost effective and sustainable manner".

A statement issued by South West Tourism explained: "This will mean a shared voice for the tourism industry; a clear direction for the sustainable and balanced development of the visitor economy; and the collection of data and intelligence to underpin the competitive performance of the industry.

"Importantly, the consortium aims to safeguard the intellectual property built up since the tourist board was formed over 40 years ago.

Key industry players - including representatives of South West Food and Drink, The Eden Project and Visit Devon — have offered their unanimous support for the new consortium.

The project is at a very early stage but work to formalise the arrangements and plan the continued delivery of key projects such as market research services and high-profile consumer and industry websites is set to start.

SWT chairman Alistair Handyside explained: "Whilst I am deeply saddened at the prospect of the imminent closure of SWT, I am truly inspired by the hard work and focus of the industry and in the fact that they are rallying together to ensure continuity.

"We are stronger together than apart and this approach will enable the southwest to maintain its profile and prestige as a leading tourist destination.

"I would like to thank the industry for their support, and the team at SWT for their continued commitment at what is a very difficult time for them all."

An insight into sailing

IS there something rather special about living at the Beacon in Yarcombe?

Whilst Robin and Jackie Hartley are swanning around the world on their yacht Matthew Tomkinson the present tenant has sailed the seas and made several Atlantic crossings.

At the invitation of Ruth Everitt and Mary Izzard, whose turn it was to provide the talk for the January meeting of the Yarcombe Tuesday Club, Matthew, a photographer, told of his introduction to the world of sailing from his early years crossing the channel to the more challenging great oceans.

Illustrated by slides taken during voyages he explained the history of the various yachts he had sailed, the meaning of nautical terms and the extent of the dangers he has experienced.

The thought of mountainous seas, towering waves and little boats makes one wonder why sailors brave such conditions?

The wonderful opportunity to crew a famous boat and travel through the Panama Canal to the Galapagos Islands was a once in a lifetime experience.

Matthew's sailing and trivia quiz stretched the memory to the full and resulted in a three-way tie for first place between Margaret Hooper, Marjorie Short and Lesley Sutton.

Mary Izzard gave the vote of thanks. After refreshments Shirley Briant, co-ordinator, brought up a few points of interest.

The club decided not make a donation to the appeal for funds to provide a loop system in the hall, and this month the meeting, on February 15th, will take place at Maggie Lane's home when members will be shown a DVD.

Artist goes beyond basics for painting

TO produce an interesting painting, the artist often has to go beyond the established basics — good drawing, tonal variation and colour — and take risks by challenging his normal thinking.

This was the message of professional artist Terry Whitworth to a packed meeting of members of the Axminster Art Society on Wednesday, January 19th.

He then demonstrated his ideas by creating a watercolour of a church set in a churchyard in which he deliberately changed accepted practices by lowering the viewpoint, bending lines of perspective and using strong, contrasting colours.

As he painted, Terry told his audience that they should bestow a personality on their paintings (his, he said, was a touch whimsical by nature) and listen to what it is telling them.

Artists should not be afraid of taking risks and bringing their own individuality to their work, he said.

Finally, to emphasise the point he was making, he compared the dramatic result with an earlier painting of his of the same church done in architecturally correct detail and without any of the surroundings. What a contrast.

After questions, the meeting closed with a vote of thanks from our newly appointed chairman Rob Chappel and warm applause from the members. The next meeting is on February 16th with Michael Sanders demonstrating mixed media in oils, pastel and watercolour. For further information contact 01297 442266.

Sunny start at WI meet

GIVEN the inclement weather, Seaton Women's Institute's Christmas activities were well attended and the lunch at the Belmont Hotel was particularly enjoyable.

January always appears a bit of an anti-climax, so it was a relief to hold the first meeting of 2011 on a lovely sunny day.

Spirits were further lifted by Janet East from Yellinghams Farm, Payhembury.

With her bubbly personality she described the ups and downs of running a small farm and the importance of diversifying to survive.

She underlined their success by noting they had previously won the South West Tourism Bed and Breakfast competition.

A vote was taken, and passed, to back Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall in his campaign to challenge the EU rules on fish quotas.

His TV programme highlighted once again the fact that 50 per cent of fish including cod caught in our waters were discarded dead back into the sea.

Seaton Women's Institute is pleased to have donated its raffle profits of £159 to the South West Children's Hospice Fund.

Shelterbox is coming next month to tell members about its work.

Visitors are welcome on February 15th at 2.15pm in Seaton Methodist Church Hall.

EAST DEVON BRANCH

LAST YEAR The East Devon Branch alone took in nearly 200 unwanted kittens. We could have taken in many more but we had neither the room nor the volunteers to care for them.

Many of the kittens we were unable to take in will have died in pain and misery or will have been abandoned to become long term strays.

This is why we are launching our Free Neutering Campaign to encourage people to get their cats neutered before this year's kittening season begins.

Cats can be neutered from 4 months of age and as a female cat can become pregnant at 5 months old it is important to book you cat in as soon as possible.

Neutering is a safe procedure which has become commonplace in veterinary practices for over 30 years.

There are many other reasons for having your cat neutered.

Neutered cats cost less to feed and are less likely to get sick or injured.

Neutering also reduces a cat's likelihood to roam, fight, spray and catch certain diseases such as FIV and FELV. They are also less likely to get certain cancers.

Un-neutered Toms will be attracted to your home when your un-neutered female is in season.

So please take advantage of our offer and ring a participating vet as soon as possible.

Customers make store successful

EDITOR — Further to the January 25th edition's Star Letter, can I just say it is pity the writer sought to tinge his rhetoric with an obvious right-wing bias.

Just to remind him, Tesco's growth under a socialist government was the strongest in its history and we won't even talk about the financial sectors' meteoric rise during the same period.

Suffice to say the public determine the success or failure of any enterprise with their feet.

We had the battle of Tesco in Honiton, not necessarily because people did not want Tesco, but rightly contesting that the position they intended to relocate to was not suitable.

When I speak to people in Tesco now they are normally complaining about overcrowding in the narrow aisles and lack of tills.

Like it or not Tesco — or any other supermarket — is successful because it provides most of what the public want, convenience, choice, economy and employment.

Fortunately or unfortunately, we live in an age of capitalism of which Robert Hessen writes: "Under real competition, which is what capitalism delivered, companies are rivals for sales and profits."

"This rivalry leads them to innovate in product design and performance, to introduce cost-cutting technology, and to use packaging to make products more attractive or convenient for customers."

So, big or small, success will ultimately be determined by those able to fulfil most of its potential customers' requirements.

Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

REVEREND Linda Chester, Methodist Minister, writes:

"As you reflect on your friends, I wonder how different they all are?"

"Friendships are formed in so many ways. Whether work, leisure, sport, hobbies, dog walking, or simply collecting children at the school gates, we talk and laugh together and a bond is formed."

"We simply share something in common and that can be sufficient for friendship to begin, other differences are overlooked."

"It's rather like that in the Church. We aren't all identical, we were never intended to be."

"We compliment each other with our rich variety and differences. Each of us is made as an individual, but special to God in our own way. We can be united without being uniform."

"We can have diversity without division. Across the broad spectrum of individual beliefs and religious practices within the Christian church, there is actually much common ground; God's word, prayer, worship, fellowship."

"But above all, our common belief and experience of God's love shown to us through Jesus Christ, God's son."

"Praise God that there can be unity in diversity."

Certain friendships will be celebrated at Colyton church on Sunday, February 13th at 6.30pm in Time to Celebrate — a service of love, relationships and marriage for St Valentine's tide-with refreshments.

Church of England parishes are being advised of plans for giving their views regarding women bishops which will ultimately be decided at a meeting of the General Synod of their church.

News has just come that members of the House of Commons have tabled a motion calling for the removal of the church's current exemption from the equality laws and if passed it would settle the matter.

For those clergy who feel unable to remain in the Church of England, the General Synod Legal Office has published a document of questions and answers about the Roman Catholic Ordinariate (GS Misc 979).

From last Tuesday clerical posts in the Church of England have been governed by a new appointment system called Common Tenure which gives bishops more control over such appointments and the clergy themselves receive better employment protection, details at www.common tenure.org.

Recently this column referred to the 400th anniversary of the King James Bible.

The Royal School of Church Music have published a festival service book containing hymns, songs and readings to assist churches to celebrate.

Council's grant to help protect and enhance town hall

By ANDERS LARSSON
anderson@tindlenews.co.uk

SEATON Town Council has released a £30,000 grant to Seaton's Voice to help "protect and enhance" the town hall.

The hall is owned by East Devon District Council (EDDC), but Seaton's Voice has taken over management of the venue.

It was agreed by the town council last year to grant Seaton's Voice £30,000.

But it was also resolved that a meeting should be called to discuss the release of the grant once the lease had been signed by both EDDC and Seaton's Voice.

The grant was released following an Extraordinary meeting of the town council's Finance and General Purposes Committee on Monday, January 31st.

A Seaton's Voice spokesperson said: "It is great to reach this point and know that there is so much more to come."

"Seaton's Voice would like to thank the groups and individuals in the community that have supported our vision."

"They are the ones that make the town hall come alive and, working together, we will make it an outstanding venue across east Devon."

"It is going to be a great year and it is good to know that the town hall will be at the heart of the community."

Three groups benefit from market cash

By ANDERS LARSSON
anderson@tindlenews.co.uk

THREE Colyton organisations have been presented with cheques totalling £850.

The cheques — from Colyton Country Market — were presented to The Friends of Colyton Library, Colyton Caterpillars, and The Reece Strawbridge Youth Centre.

The Friends of Colyton Library received £500 to pay for history information boards, and a planter to be put outside the library when refurbishment is completed.

Colyton Caterpillars got £200 for new equipment and The Reece Strawbridge Youth Centre received £150, also for new equipment.

Market committee members Shirley Robinson, Frances McCarthy, Sue Wilson and Jacky Roberts-Wake were pleased to be able to contribute to these organisations as they represented all ages within the town.

They added that the boards and planter will benefit visitors to the town as well.

As reported last week, the market has ceased because organisers found it increasingly difficult to find enough stallholders able to commit to the market.

◆ COLYTON Market has now ceased operating and the money still held was distributed among three local groups last Thursday. The organisers gave cheques to the Reece Strawbridge Centre, Colyton Caterpillars and the Friends of Colyton Library. Pictured at the presentation are Penny Eastwood and two youngsters from Colyton Caterpillars, librarian Helen Redwood, Jane Dauncey of the Library Friends, Mark Mann and Paul Arnott of the Strawbridge Centre and Jacky Roberts-Wake, Frances McCarthy and Sue Wilson of Colyton Market

Path clear for store expansion

THE path has been cleared for Tesco to expand its Axminster store.

Supermarket giant Tesco gained planning consent last year, subject to a legal agreement.

A spokesman for East Devon District Council explained the situation by saying: "The decision to grant planning permission was agreed at Development Management Committee in November, subject to the signing of a legal agreement."

"This legal agreement was signed in January."

Learn how dance can give you more Conf-dance

'Seaton's Voice' being finally given the green light has had nothing but a positive effect effect 'Conf-dance'.

"For the last 3 years we have been trying to establish ourselves in the community coming up against harsh competition of larger theatre organisations in the local area.

Finding a regular place to do classes which is both in a good position and affordable for hire has been a long time in coming and now not only do we have a regular secure place but also a place with all the onsite facilities needed to run a successful theatre programme.

The hall is large enough so we can now accommodate more children which means being able to keep the fees at an affordable rate."

It is a beginning of a new chapter this year Sara Perry has some great plans for Conf-dance beginning with expanding classes.

In January she began a much needed pre-school theatre programme which has encouraged her to now expand in other areas.

In March she is starting two new adult classes for those who enjoy dancing that are Low impact and fun to do. 'Happy Tappers' tap class and 'Dance Divas' beginners will be suitable for all ages and will be a chance for people to make new friends and learn a new skill, you never know you might find yourself on Seaton stage soon!

In April the dance classes are expanding again to more advanced content and also to allow space for newcomers.

'Communications Anonymous' Conf-dances next production is on April 2nd which is an arty contemporary project highlighting the serious issues concerning 'Facebook' and 'Game Consoles' where all the children find themselves locked in a game and need to reach different levels to escape.

Whether they do or not, will be something that you will have to find out for yourself by going to watch one of two performances. Tickets will be on sale shortly so watch this space.

Sara was born in Seaton but left at the age of 18 to further her career in the theatre.

She was accepted on to the 3 year "Academy of the live and recorded Arts" Performing Arts Dance course then traveled around the continent doing stage and television performances in acting singing and dancing. Sara says "There was competition then but it has magnified to the extent now that it is a cut throat business. In order to succeed you need to have passion and determination and prepared to be knocked back over and over.

You need to believe in yourself and give it everything you've got.

I encourage the children to express themselves fully and in the time they spend with me ask that to give 100% of their personal best whatever skills they believe that they do or don't possess.

I am so proud of all the children I teach and am rewarded over and over by the progress they make. Everyone has a special skill or quality, it just needs to be brought to the surface."

Free booklet of activities

THE new edition of the Senior Council's Brochure of Activities in and around Seaton has just hit the streets.

The brochure is free and lists a host of activities on offer in the area.

It can be picked up from Seaton Library, the town hall, post office, GW Meats, Byrne Jones, Eve's Gallery, Co-op, Steve's Print and church halls in Seaton and district.

Joyce West, who helped put the brochure together, said: "We have tried to include every activity on offer in this area, but of course, we can only include clubs who let us know they are out there."

"We are sorry if you have missed out this time around, or if any of the information about your club is incorrect. Please let us know and we will put it right in the next edition. If funds allow, the next edition will be out in 2013."

A FIRE crew from Ottery St Mary was called to reports of a two-car crash at Higher Broad Oak Road, West Hill, on Sunday, February 6th.

A spokesman for the Devon and Somerset Fire and Rescue Service said: "One appliance from Ottery St Mary attended a report of a road traffic collision involving two vehicles. No persons were trapped or injured."

◆ THE Confi-dance kids and their leaders take the plunge at Fisherman's Gap as part of a fundraising initiative

Drama group use sea as kids' stage

MEMBERS of a Seaton-based theatre project made the sea their stage on Saturday, February 5th.

The Confi-dance kids and their leaders took the plunge at Fisherman's Gap as part of a fundraising initiative.

Confi-dance creator Sara Perry said: "When coming up with ways to raise money the team decided that swimming in the sea was a particularly worthwhile project as a few members are either not strong swimmers and wouldn't even contemplate going in during the height of season, let alone when it maybe be minus temperatures."

Prior to the stunt, group members had already raised a total of £400 in sponsorship, including a generous amount from Haynes Hardware, Colyton.

Sara added: "I would like to thank everyone for their support on the day and a very well done to those who took part."

The brave swimmers were Sara Perry, Maria Winnett, Victoria Pearce, Alice Underdown, Maddy Cozens, Ella Winnett, Tilly Winnett, Bryanna Kilroy and Sasha Cottom.

TONY JACKSON

"Would you believe it? A song-thrush!"

A LONG email from a reader, Alison Tottenham, who is deeply involved in environmental sciences, has commented on my reference to the disappearance of song-thrushes.

They suffered, she says, a severe decline from the end of the 1970s caused, so it was said, by a virus. However, as Alison points out, that was a long time ago and one would have expected the population to have recovered but this has not happened. Last April she saw a thrush in her Honiton garden but it was immediately chased away by two blackbirds. Is it the case, she enquires, that today where there are blackbirds, thrushes are not welcome?

Alison also picked up on my remarks about red squirrels and agrees that it would be delightful to see them back in Devon woods but, as always, the alien grey squirrels have to be eliminated before our native reds have a chance of success on the mainland. Perhaps, she writes, we should shoot greys for the pot . . . "squirrel casserole does, I am told, taste very good".

Well, yes it does indeed and I can thoroughly recommend grey squirrel as a game animal on the table but, as Alison agrees, a few dinners will not achieve the extermination necessary to allow reds to return and the attitude of urban dwellers, who feed the brutes, will be hard to change. That greys can be removed from an area has been proved, provided an all-out attack is orchestrated. There was a time, 50 years ago, when the government issued cheap cartridges and there was a bounty on tails. The only hope would be to concentrate on a large area of woodland in Devon or Dorset and obtain the co-operation of landowners and farmers to back a major campaign to eliminate every grey squirrel in the area, and then introduce a small colony of reds. However, the area would have to be closely monitored and any greys at once destroyed. It is, I fear, only a pipe-dream.

Would you believe it! Whilst writing this column a song-thrush has just landed in the field in front of my office and is hopping round for worms and insects. I have the glasses on it and it appears to be a healthy, well fledged specimen. So there is hope!

The Blackdown Hills AONB team has organised an outing for parents and children aged four to eight, for half term on Wednesday, February 23rd. The Magic Lakes story walk is a fun winter walk around the lovely lakes and woods at Otterhead Lakes, a former grand estate. The group will then assemble in the old coach house for warm drinks and biscuits and to be regaled by Clare Viner with tales from watery myths and woodland legends, including children's stories about the natural world. The walk is from 10am to noon and booking is essential. Contact Katherine Morgan on 07590 215186.

Good to hear that Dorset's winterbournes, the streams which flow seasonally, are being restored by the Dorset Wild Rivers project, led by Dorset Wildlife Trust.

Important chalk stream habitat, including the Frome and Piddle valleys and the chalk stream tributaries of the Stour, Allen, Tarrant and North Winterbournes are being targeted.

A 650 metre section of new chalk stream habitat has been created on the South Winterbourne at Winterborne Herrington and fish, including brown trout, are expected to use the habitat for spawning in wet winters, following the flow downstream as the winterbourne dries out.

The project is working with landowners, angling groups and The Wild Trout Trust and has the backing of film-maker Simon King, who was filming on Dorset's chalk streams last year.

Trust searches for volunteers for programme

SEATON Visitor Centre Trust is looking for volunteers with a passion for the outdoors.

Throughout 2011 the Seaton Visitor Centre Trust, in partnership with East Devon District Council (EDDC) and Natural England, will be running a programme of volunteer training and public events.

Called Wildlife 360 Degrees Around Seaton, the project is funded by the National Lottery through its Big Lottery Fund.

An EDDC spokesperson said: "Volunteers will have the opportunity to take part in a variety of activities such as guided walks led by local wildlife experts; wildlife surveys; creative tasks like photography, drawing and sketching; and practical conservation tasks, such as hedge laying. The project aims to build upon each participant's knowledge and confidence, enabling them to assist in wildlife activities in the area. Volunteer training events will take place both during the week and at weekends, and it is very much emphasised that participants will be able to decide how much time they can offer on a flexible basis."

Potential volunteers can contact EDDC assistant education ranger Meg Knowles on 07734 568821 or email mknowles@eastdevon.gov.uk for more information.

Over the hedge - or under it!

Tips on how to rejuvenate and reshape your hedges - plus, find out what else needs doing in the garden this week.

Hedges can be the making of a garden, providing clear boundaries and acting as a windbreak and a handsome green backdrop to other plants.

A neglected hedge, on the other hand, can be a total eyesore, especially if it's bare at the base or totally out of shape due to lack of pruning.

Late winter is an ideal time to cut back tough hedges such as beech, pyracantha, yew (which is the only conifer which will re-shoot from old wood), holly and hawthorn. They can be cut back hard to rejuvenate and reshape them and re-growth will start almost immediately. If you feed the hedge the growing season before, it should come back healthy and vigorous.

As a rule, it's best to prune deciduous types in late winter and evergreens in spring. Feed and mulch in mid-spring and water during dry weather. Fill in unsightly gaps in the hedge with smaller plants and avoid trying to match a plant with the height of an existing hedge.

Be warned, though, that newcomers have to compete for food, moisture and light with the bigger, established plants, which is why the failure rate with in-filling is pretty high.

Box hedging won't be harmful by hard pruning. A bush can be drastically cut back in spring, but to avoid large bare patches, stagger the work over two to three seasons.

Use sharp secateurs to prune holly hedges and evergreen cherry laurels, as the large glossy leaves turn brown and look terrible if they're chopped in half with shears.

Use a sharp bow saw for thick branches, loppers for those a little smaller and secateurs for twiggy growth.

To make the job easier, lay hessian or sheets of polythene at the base of the hedge if you are trimming a lot off it, to gather the clippings.

If a conifer hedge has become bare at the base, consider growing other plants in front of it to cover the gaps, such as Euonymus fortunei 'Emerald 'n' Gold' or 'Emerald Gaiety', which are perfect for shady spots and will brighten up the plain green foliage of a hedge.

Cutting a hedge back hard should be done in stages, as it takes quite a lot out of the plant. In year one the top and one side can be pruned, the opposite side in year two.

Start from the bottom and work upwards and, if possible, shred the clippings and put them on the compost heap as you go along. The top of the hedge should be trimmed last. It may look drastic but don't worry, it will recover.

Hilarious script awaits

THE hilarious script of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves has been chosen by Seaton Pantomime Society and will be brought to life by a 35-strong cast, including local thespians Ian Waite, Phil and Val Christmas and Norman Bowles.

Sara Perry is the goodie Caterina and Debbie Bradley plays the baddie Alsatia along with her sidekick the King of thieves Asbad, played by Ian Craig.

They are joined by newcomers including 12-year-old Bryanna Kilroy as Ali Baba and Ella Winnett as Marjana with the return of Martha Woolley as the prince and Emma Lewis as the princess.

They are supported by a talented chorus line and the dance team from Confidance and taking his first lead part is Adam Tedbury playing village idiot Mustafa.

Due to town hall bookings, the panto only has three performances this year instead of the usual sell-out four, so be sure to book tickets from the box office at Seaton Town Hall. Show times are Friday and Saturday, February 18th and 19th at 7pm and Sunday, February 20th at 3pm.

Perfect comedy timing

MIRACLE Theatre Company's Beauty and the Beast from Mars will be shown at Exeter Northcott on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 24th, 25th and 26th.

The production has been inspired by science fiction movies such as Return to the Forbidden Planet and Dr Strangelove.

It is a musical comedy set in outer space, featuring aliens, a secret weapon code and lots of strange scenery.

Beauty and the Beast from Mars' director, Bill Scott, said: "For this show we've used an array of hi-tech special effects, including live back projections, real-time animation and new digital technology.

"We've been able to recreate a range of worlds, from Wembley Stadium to a Martian landscape to create an exciting sci-fi spectacle."

A spokesman for Exeter Northcott added: "Beauty and the Beast from Mars has all the elements that people have grown to expect from the Miracle Theatre Company — perfectly timed comic performances, larger than life characters, original writing, a fast moving plot and great songs played live on stage."

Performances will take place at 7.30pm each evening with a matinee at 2.30pm on the Saturday.

Tickets are priced at £12 for all seats — concession tickets are available — and can be purchased from the Exeter Northcott Box Office on 01392 493493 or online at www.exeternorthcott.co.uk.

MUSIC

● THERE are over 200 shipwrecks in Lyme Bay which Nigel Clarke, local guidebook writer and a diver with 15 years' experience, will talk about at Lyme Regis Museum on Wednesday, February 9th at 2.30pm.

He will describe how it is possible to see wrecks of the 18th and 19th centuries, First World War battleships, tank landing craft, yachts and cargo vessels, as well as their contents — everything from tin ingots to railway trucks. Nigel will illustrate his talk with pictures, artefacts and charts.

On Saturday, February 12th at 2.30pm Diana Shervington, descendant of Jane Austen's brother Edward and patron of the South West branch of the Jane Austen Society, will discuss two of Jane's other brothers, Charles and Francis, who both rose to Admiral in the Royal Navy and proved useful inspiration in her writing. Diana describes how Jane's characters often reflect her admiration for her two naval brothers.

These talks form part of Maritime Lyme, a year-long celebration of Lyme's maritime life, culture and heritage.

Everyone is welcome to Lyme Regis Museum and its talks. One admission fee (£3.50 adults; £3 seniors, children free) allows any number of visits for a year.

● AXE Vale Orchestra will be performing in Colyton Town Hall on Sunday, February 13th, at 3pm.

Music to be performed includes works by Beethoven and Mozart.

Simon Watterton will also feature during the event. Simon has been recognised as a rising star in the International Piano Quarterly Magazine and in April last year was awarded the British Music Prize at the inaugural Sussex International Piano Competition.

Tickets cost £9 and are available from the Brainwave store in Colyton or Archway Bookshop in Axminster. Any remaining tickets will be available to purchase on the door.

KING'S TRIUMPH

THE NEWS
TEAM ON 01297 631120

THE King's Speech is an impeccably crafted chapter from recent British history that charts a remarkable and unlikely friendship between two men from opposite sides of the class divide.

When King George V (Michael Gambon) dies in 1936, eldest son Edward (Guy Pearce) ascends to the throne, but his reign is shrouded in scandal as he continues to romance American divorcee, Wallis Simpson (Eve Best).

Love triumphs over duty and Edward abdicates, forcing youngest son Albert (Colin Firth) into the spotlight.

However, the newly crowned King George VI suffers from a crippling stammer, which renders him unable to deliver public addresses.

With war imminent and the country looking to its King for leadership, Queen Elizabeth (Helena Bonham Carter) approaches unconventional Australian-born speech therapist Lionel Logue on the recommendation of a friend.

If The King's Speech is a sign of things to come in 2011 then it will be a very, very happy new year.

Meet the FSB Rentals team - For property lettings in and around Seaton

FSB Rentals, the lettings department of Fortnam Smith and Banwell, team estate agent in Seaton, is delighted with its expansion over the last few months and is proud to manage more property for more clients than ever before.

The dedicated and highly efficient team is now headed up by manager, Sue Wallis. Previously a business owner/manager and holiday lettings agent, Sue was introduced to Fortnam Smith and Banwell when she became a bank cashier at the Halifax branch in the FSB office. After redundancy in 2006, Sue accepted an invitation to join the FSB family and four years later, is thrilled with her promotion, from senior negotiator to rentals manager.

Senior negotiator, Louisa Merritt joined FSB Rentals in March 2010. Louisa worked in sales for three years then took a break to have children and more recently, owned a local retail business in the town. Having lived in Seaton all her life, Louisa has an excellent knowledge of the town and its properties and is working towards achieving the Technical Award in Residential Letting and Property Management qualification.

The newest member of the FSB Rentals team is negotiator, Lin Walkerdine, who joined in August 2010. A qualified company secretary, Lin has been a project manager for one of the largest housebuilders in the country and has experience in contract negotiation and property law as well as property rentals. Lin applied for a position with Fortnam Smith and Banwell as her family has bought and sold properties via the agency and its approach was always professional, friendly and helpful.

Lin's favourite part of the job is matching tenants with properties and seeing them enjoy their new homes, while Louisa particularly enjoys the day to day contact with people and thrives on the challenges that arise on a daily basis.

Sue said: "Lin, Louisa and I work extremely well as a team, offering help and support to each other in this very demanding job. We provide the best possible service with a rolling selection of properties for tenants and a choice of packages for our landlords, from a find-only level to a fully managed service with everything taken care of. The job can be challenging at times, but it is all worth it for the best part, which is seeing people settled and happy in their new homes."

FSB Rentals is the lettings department of Fortnam Smith and Banwell in Seaton, which provides a comprehensive range of services, now including the brand new Home Passport, designed to help sell homes quicker.

For further information, to view a property for sale or to rent or to arrange a free, no-obligation market appraisal for the sale or rental of your property, pop into the Fortnam Smith and Banwell office at 1 Vintage Court in Seaton's town centre, call FSB Rentals on 01297 21120, sales on 01297 23939 or visit www.teamprop.co.uk

A new generation

MERCEDES-BENZ of Exeter will be marking the 125th anniversary of the co-founder of Mercedes-Benz creating the world's first car with the launch of another trendsetting model – the new generation CLS.

The Marsh Barton retailer will officially unveil the striking four-door coupe at a special anniversary event, which will be held from Friday, February 18th to Sunday, February 20th and pay homage to the breakthrough of Karl Benz in creating the first motor car and 'Benz' in 1886 – the three-wheeled Motorwagen.

Those who visit Mercedes-Benz of Exeter's celebratory weekend will certainly not be disappointed – the new generation CLS being a fitting tribute to the unprecedented engineering that the legendary manufacturer is acclaimed for.

Customers will be able to view and order the new CLS during the event and arrange a test drive from March 1st onwards.

Mercedes-Benz South West will be showcasing several models from the new range.

Owners of the latest CLS will savour a sporty and refined drive that is complemented by the car's efficient performance.

The engines utilise energy-saving measures, such as the ECO start/stop function and the V6s are as much as 25 per cent more economical than their predecessors with considerable increases in power too.

Technological advancements are not only limited to the engines.

The CLS is the first Mercedes-Benz model to have frameless, all-aluminium doors and its electromechanical power steering is a world first, the system only using energy when the CLS is actually being steered and providing an unprecedented level of feel between the driver, car and road.

For further information contact Mercedes-Benz of Exeter on 01392 822700.

New 911 edition is launched

◆ THE new 911 Black Edition for 2011

IN a change of pace from the usual super-high performance variant introductions, Porsche has announced a special edition version of the 911 based on the entry level Carrera 3.6-litre model.

Called the 911 Black Edition and available as either a coupe or cabriolet model, the new variant is set to arrive in April, will only be available in black and is limited to a production run of just 1,911 examples.

A strong equipment specification will include the black paint with the option of 'basalt black metallic' and a black canvas roof for the cabriolet model. 19-inch 911 Turbo II two-tone alloy wheels, black, four-piston aluminium monobloc fixed callipers and a grey top-tint in the windscreen will also be standard.

Inside, black lettering on the door sills, part leather seats, Porsche's sports design steering wheel and a glove box badge displaying the limited edition status will be standard.

Despite the additional equipment and limited edition status, the Black Edition model will have the same purchase price as the standard basic model. It will also feature the same flat-six engine, meaning 345bhp, a top speed of 180mph and zero to 62mph acceleration of 4.9 seconds in coupe form.

● Inspired by the V12 Vantage supercar, Aston Martin has announced a new version of the V8 model called Vantage S.

The sharper looks are achieved by a deeper front spoiler in contrasting carbonfibre feeding a larger air intake, a new rear spoiler and sharp new 19-inch alloy wheels.

Bigger changes take place under the skin however, with the 4.7-litre V8 engine enhanced to produce 430bhp and 361lb.ft of torque, taken to the rear wheels via a new seven-speed Sportshift II automatic transmission.

With seven short ratios and paddleshift operation it allows rapid gear changes.

Pressing the dash-mounted Sport button increases the speed of changes still further, while also opening a bypass valve in the new exhaust system and switching to a more aggressive throttle setting.

The Vantage S is on sale now across Aston Martin's worldwide dealer network. Prices are £102,500 for the coupe and £110,700 for the Roadster.

Local footy face heads up centre

A COLYTON football profile has been appointed manager of Exeter City FC's (ECFC) youth development centre in the town.

Keith Somers is a well-known face on the local football circuit and manages Colyton Town FC.

ECFC runs a network of regional development centres for boys and girls in the 6-13 age range.

The Colyton centre is open on Monday evenings and is based at the Astroturf pitch at Colyton Grammar School.

Players are drilled by head coach, ex-professional and current BBC Spotlight pundit Chris Hargreaves.

Keith, 45, has been playing for Colyton FC since the age of 12, and has also had a few spells with Beer Albion.

He is no stranger to the youth set-up at ECFC as his son, Callum, spent five years at the club's centre of excellence.

ECFC's head of youth, Simon Hayward, got to know Keith during Callum's time with the club and described the whole Somers family as "helpful and sensible", which was one reason for approaching Keith about the development centre role.

Simon said: "Keith is local, understands the area and is involved with football.

"The enthusiasm he brings, along with Chris Hargreaves and his qualities is, I think, the right mix"

Keith is looking forward to the role, which is on a voluntary basis and involves mainly off-pitch duties, but says it was not a straightforward decision.

He explained: "I was dubious to start with because it is Colyton FC's centenary season."

Keith, who supports ECFC and Queen's Park Rangers, is heavily involved with the centenary celebrations but eventually decided he could fit it all in.

"That I might have a very small hand in finding a future professional footballer makes it worthwhile for me. And the fact that I'm working for ECFC is quite exciting," he explained.

An ECFC spokesman added: "The aim of our football development programme is to improve the physical and technical abilities of promising young players and enable them to play and train at an advanced level within a fun learning environment, with the main aim to progress into the ECFC centre of excellence."

Simon said that the centre of excellence tries to feed the first team with players, and explained that George Friend is a prime example.

George started at the Barnstaple development centre and enjoyed success in the first team before being sold to Wolverhampton Wanderers where he got a taste of top flight football.

Simon concluded: "One in a thousand may make that [George's] progress, but getting a player into our first team is a massive success."

Parents interested in bringing their children to the Colyton development centre can call Keith for more information on 07791 651658, or email him at k.somers761@btinternet.com.

Alternatively, call the ECFC youth management team on 01395 233883.

Texas Scramble

AMIDST the white heat of the Winter League programme players were treated to a little relaxation this week, a fun game, a three-ball Texas Scramble with two scores to count.

The winners, M Fowler, R Reece and G Richards, made all the right decisions finishing with a round of 61.1 after 10 per cent of their combined handicap was deducted from their gross score.

P Dimond, D Lavender and T Dimond were second with 61.8 leaving T Chandler, J Fleetwood and S Squire third with 62.8. we're back to the serious stuff next week.

Ladies Section

The sun may not have shone on the course a week ago, but there was sunshine and smiles all round for the new lady captain's drive-in.

The ladies enjoyed a 14-hole team Stableford competition followed by a wonderful buffet lunch provided by the lady captain, Sue Ritchie.

Winners of the competition with 63 points were four-ball team Henrietta Bradshaw, Jean Moon, Elizabeth Davies and Catherine Doherty (they had a four point deduction because they were a four-ball).

Second with 56 points were Val Daniels, Lesley Farley and Olive Pope (3 ball), and third place went to Chris Pearce, Jean Mackinnon and Sue Witton (three-ball) with 55 points on countback. Sue executed a magnificent drive-in and Maris Dart won the prize for nearest pin to the ball.

Last week's drive-in was followed this week by another enjoyable Stableford competition.

Scores were to count on consecutive holes throughout the game in which one eye was kept on the score card and the other on the clouds overhead which threatened, but failed to produce the expected downpour.

The scores paid tribute to a course of temporary greens with first place going to Mona Carter, Diana Gee, Tricia Swindell (69 points), second place Linda Northover, Hilda Hoepelman, Di Wall (67 points), and third place to Joy Kerr, Jan Portlock, Jan Lloyd (65 points) a fourth place went to Andrea Squire and June Hodge who played a 2 ball and scored 49 points with an adjusted score.

course on Friday, for a Stableford competition, and Eclectic round eight.

With the greens fully open, no snow, ice, frost, fog or rain, and with a nice temperature, what could stop players from coming in with their best score of the year to date?

Just the raging wind blowing their balls all over the place. Those who actually played to their handicap and returned level par scores, found themselves at the top of the leaderboard.

Congratulations to Mike Stroud who won Division One with 36 points, followed by Peter Shepherd 35, Keith Crane 32, ahead of Jim Wallis on count back, with Bill Spice 5th with 31.

Division Two was much closer with three players scoring 36. Winning on count back with a better last nine holes was Howard Pritchard, from Steve Blundell and Ron Rogers, with a similar ruling deciding that George Smith filled fourth place ahead of Trevor Bradley, both with 35.

Peter Shepherd on the fourth, and John Ward on the 12th scored twos, and each divided 34 golf balls between themselves and their two partners.

EAST DEVON SHORT MAT BOWLS

AWLISCOMBE A 5-3, boosted their chances of Division One games next season with their two points while Sidbury, 7-1, ensured that they will return to the higher division.

The other two teams who could join them, Upottery and Awliscombe, play each other in their final match and cannot both overtake Sidbury so congratulations to Sidbury on their swift return.

In the Afternoon league the closeness of the teams means that just a few results can change their relative positions.

Seaton Cliff B, 6-2, move to third, St Teresa's, 7-1, to fourth, while Awliscombe A, also 7-1, and Lyme Regis, 5-3, each gained one place.

In the second division Sidbury, 8-0, move up three to second place in the only match in this division this week.

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

AVR member Harry's return after operation

AXE Valley Runners (AVR) member Harry Moore made a much-anticipated comeback over the weekend, having been out of action since September 12th last year.

After an operation he was told to stop running for at least four months and anyway he felt so bad there was no way he could.

Time heals as the saying goes and Harry felt fit enough to run in the Fulfords Five Mile on Sunday, but at a greatly reduced and safe pace, the aim — just to get around uninjured in the howling wind.

Harry achieved this and was warmly welcomed back into the running scene when he crossed the line in 73 minutes.

Last Friday night saw eight hardy souls braving the winds and running the 14-mile Herepath Trail around Staple Fitzpaine near Taunton.

This excellent route was created a few years ago for walking, cycling and horse riding and is virtually all off-road.

Part of its challenge when starting from Staple Hill is that the first few miles are all downhill with a corresponding 800 foot climb over the last four miles.

Three AVR members — Garry Perratt, Eleanor Wood and Graham Newton — were joined by nocturnal regulars Exmouth Harrier Jon Croome and Chris Gill from Tiverton Harriers plus Chris' mate Ben and newcomers Lizzie and Mike Kendon.

Garry's navigation was more-or-less spot on and the happy octet returned to the high winds just over two hours after they had started after another most enjoyable run.

On Sunday, the final official Grizzly practice run was done around the backwoods of Branscombe.

The AVR gang were joined by many Honiton Running Club runners and a lady from the Serpentine Running Club in London.

Just to give you an idea of how demanding the course is, this lady can run a marathon in 3:30, but at the end of only nine of the 20 Grizzly miles she was quite exhausted.

All the more reason to come out and cheer the runners on their way on Sunday, March 13th.

AXMINSTER INDOOR BOWLS

THE highlight of the last fortnight was an excellent 64-43 win at Madeira in a mixed friendly with wins on all three rinks — Les Monk, Jean Kesterton, Eric Skeemer, and Margaret Crompton (23-7), David Harris, Marion Harris, Ann Clayton, and Brian Parsons (23-20), and Lilian Lovatt, Pam Clark, Brian Clark, and Jan Parsons (18-16).

However the team lost the other two mixed friendlies, at home to Budleigh (47-65) with no rink winners, and away to Taunton B.C.(49-70) with Phil White, William Cook, David Harris, and Sheila Martin our only winners (24-16).

In the two mens' friendlies they lost at home to the strong Devon President's team (42-78) before doing well to win at Sidmouth in an excellent match (60-54) with a top rink of Graham Ayres, Neil Solomon, Gerald Knott, and Norman Denslow (21-12).

The county games, however, were very disappointing with the men losing their game with South Hams (49-111) — the best effort coming from the home rink of Neil Solomon, Alan Preece, Sid Milburn, and Charlie Barber who lost narrowly (18-21).

The ladies lost both their County Foxlands games, first against Sidmouth (67-103) and then against Exonia (60-91) with only the home rink of Lilian Lovatt, Pam Clark, Marion Harris, and Sheila Martin managing a win (21-17).

DEVON AND EXETER LEAGUE

HONITON Town finally ended one of their worst-ever starts to the season when they beat fellow Division One strugglers Elmore Reserves 3-0.

The win — their first win under new manager Paddy Thomas — took Honiton off the basement rung and their celebrations came with goals from Broom, Genders and Lapping.

Neighbours Feniton matched Honiton with a stunning 3-2 success at BOW AAC to end a run of nine defeats in succession.

Charlie Selley had the winning Feniton goal, although they nearly blew it after letting a two-goal lead ebb away.

Paul Dowling and Jon French were the other Feniton scorers.

Second-half goals from Jacob Hayes, Miles Alphonse and Bradley Grovers gave Premier leaders Seaton Town a 3-0 win at home to Wellington Town Reserves.

It was tough going for Seaton until they managed to get their noses in front.

Beer Albion won a windswept game at Furzebrake 1-0 against Thorverton. The only goal came from James Melville in the first-half.

JUNIOR RUGBY

Honiton U9 2
Tiverton U9 9

IT was a hard fought and an exciting match between Tiverton and Honiton.

Good competitive tackling from both sides as well as fast flowing rugby.

Honiton took a while to get into the game due to Tiverton's attacking play, however, after a shaky start, Honiton started to make headway through good tackling and team work only to be pinned back by a better organised and assertive team.

There were good individual tries by Harry Shepherd (Captain) and Lewis Gleed (Man of the Match).

Honiton U10 35
Tiverton U10 20

Honiton came out on top in a scrappy game against a useful Tiverton side.

There were debuts for Oliver Goody and Finlay Blackmore, who are helping to strengthen the Honiton squad. Tries from Jacob Wright (3), Ryan Woollacott (2) and Luke Bralsford and Oliver Uppinder with a nice long range winger's try.

Another win boys but we can do better.

Honiton U11 75
Tiverton U11 0

Honiton put together some great passing rugby and were rewarded with tries from Jack Katene (3) he also converted three, Oliver Perez (3), Harry Todd (2), Giles Richards, Joe Whitworth and Ben Phillips — he also converted four of the tries and Tom Young kicked three conversions.

Even though the score line was heavily in Honiton's favour nothing must be taken away from the Tiverton squad who never let their heads drop and played until the final whistle.

RANGERS EXTEND
UNBEATEN SPELL
WITH HAMMERING

By KEVIN FAHEY

sport.pulmans@tindlenews.co.uk

CHARD Rangers extended their unbeaten spell to four games in Division Two under manager Justin Mason with a 4-1 hammering of South Petherton Reserves.

Wayne Long scored twice with further strikes from John Mason and Mike Druce to further strengthen their great escape from the foot of the table.

"It all seems to be coming together because that was our best performance of the season," said Mason.

"We now have a crunch match against Hawkchurch next weekend. If we can beat Hawkchurch we will climb above them in the table."

In the Premier Division reigning champions Lyme Regis kept up the pressure on the leaders South Petherton with a 4-0 victory over Barrington.

John Simier gave the home side a half-time lead before Joel Gosling and Rob Thompson with two sealed a comfortable victory.

"We weren't at our best and Barrington could have taken the lead as they had a good shout for a penalty but all we can do is keep winning," said Lyme boss Robin Townsend.

Lyme's cause was helped with second-placed Merriott Rovers held to a 2-2 draw at Perry Street for whom Stuart Packer scored both goals, the first of which manager Dave Ellis described as a "scorcher".

"It was frustrating for me," admitted

Ellis. "Before the game I would have taken a draw but on the day we should have won that and we gave them a late equaliser. But we are getting better."

High-scoring Crewkerne Town took their season's tally to fifty goals in ten Division One games with a 6-1 thrashing of Charmouth, who took a shock early lead.

"I had to give the lads a real talking to at half-time," said manager Nick Murphy.

"I think they reckoned it would be easy against the bottom team but Charmouth showed a lot of fighting spirit."

A hat-trick from Jamie Spurdle and further goals from Adam Dawe, Barry Hayne and Kev Wheeler completed the scoring.

New signing Dean Charles made a promising debut.

Two goals from Sam Dibbling and one apiece from Paul Otreba and player-manager Shane Featherstone ensured Millwey Rise kept up the pressure at the top of Division One with a 4-0 win at Thorncombe.

In the Bill Bailey Cup Dylan Bier and Greg McCullum scored for Farway Utd Reserves in their 2-0 win against Chard Utd but Matt Grant was manager Paul Salmon's man-of-the-match.

In the Challenge Cup skipper Murray Legg cracked a superb hat-trick in Beaminster's 6-0 win over Ilminster Reserves — just a week after Beaminster beat the same side 5-1 in the league.

Ben Ward (two) and a Richard Runyard penalty completed the scoring.

COLYTON FOOTBALL CLUB

7-1 loss for Coly despite good play and debut goal for Moore

Devon & Exeter League
Division Two
Culm Utd 7
Colyton 1

COLY supporters must not lose heart after seeing the result of this game as the actual score line does not reflect the excellent first-half display which saw Colyton completely outplay league leaders Culm Utd.

Culm Utd are a very decent side, but Colyton caused them problems going forward and if Colyton can just eliminate some silly mistakes they have a chance to get somewhere.

With teams at the bottom of the table picking up points, the main objective for the remainder of the season is to survive in this division.

The game started in very difficult conditions, a strong gusting wind would prove to make it tricky to get the ball down and put several passes together, although both teams really did well.

Colyton started brightly and, in the first minute, Marc Potter made a surging run into the opposition penalty area. He was brought down and the referee awarded a free kick three yards outside the area.

Callum Somers then curled a brilliant free kick around the wall, the ball cannoning off the crossbar, and George Moore reacted quickly to smash home the loose ball for his first goal for the club since transferring from Seaton Town a few weeks ago.

Culm were shell-shocked and struggled to cope with a confident Coly. Five minutes later, Somers rose magnificently to head back across the face of the goal for Richard Tratt to connect with a great first-time shot.

The goal-bound strike hit a defender on the knee and bounced to safety. In the 10th minute Somers waltzed his way past two or three defenders before he was pushed off the ball. The offence took place well inside the area, and the referee awarded a goal kick.

On 16 minutes, an aimless shot was collected in the air by Colyton keeper Kris Reid. As he rose to collect the ball he badly twisted his ankle and, landing awkwardly, he made the injury even worse. Reid collapsed to the floor and the ball rested at his side.

The referee chose to ignore this injury and some 30 seconds later a Culm player strolled up to the ball and tapped it into the empty net. Reid bravely tried to continue but could only last some five more minutes before Jimmy Richards had to replace him.

Coly kept their heads and, although Culm were beginning to play the ball around, they did not put Coly in any real danger.

Coly created several more good opportunities but, as in recent weeks, the goals have really dried up.

Coly were again denied two great goal-scoring opportunities. Somers was the driving force and on the half-hour he sprinted clear to be brought down on the edge of the area by the Culm keeper. The referee decided that a free kick was the only punishment.

Some five minutes later, Somers was tripped in the area. Coly had already stopped expecting to have been awarded the penalty kick, although it did not come.

The Culm defender lashed the ball up field and, 30 seconds later, it was in the back of the net.

The goal was scored in the 10th minute of added time, then in the 13th minute of added time, Culm capitalised on some defensive mistakes to knock home their third.

Any thoughts of a comeback were soon dealt with by Culm who added two more goals within the opening 10 minutes of the second period. Coly were now very demoralised and struggled to contain a Culm side that had refound its form. To their credit, the players did well to restrict Culm to only two more goals.

■ The reserves did better earning a 2-2 draw against a useful Tipton St John Reserves. Chris Long and Ed Busby shared the goals in a much improved team performance.

FOR manager Nick Ogden it was just his fourth game in charge since succeeding James Bennett.

For the patient Axminster fans it was game number 18 as their long wait for the first league win of the season finally came to an end.

"At last we have that monkey off our back and now we have something to build on," said Ogden.

"The players worked really hard for this win and thoroughly deserved it. They have set their standard now and I will expect that every week. There will be no point winning this week and then slipping below those standards. I know these players can get better."

Terry Emmett broke the deadlock on the hour mark after the visitors had been reduced to ten men when Ryan Hare was sent off.

"It was a cracking goal at the end of a very good move," added Ogden. "Importantly, we looked very secure at the back with a new partnership of Michael Knight, who has been playing with Millwey Rise and Lee Maguire. That gave us a great platform and now let's hope we can build on this."

League Division One East
Appledore 0
Ottery St Mary 1

THIS was one of the best results of the season for the Otters with Dane Bunney's side springing a surprise against the team that went into the game as league leaders.

Lee Withey struck the crucial goal after just seven minutes as the home defence dithered and the Otters were handed a further advantage after half an hour when Appledore's star striker Richard Hevingham was sent off for retaliation.

From that point on the Otters fought and scrapped for every ball and while Appledore threw caution to the wind in the closing stages Bunney's side held on for a significant victory.

OFFWELL FC

Dawlish United 1

A GAME that looked to be a tough match straight from kick-off proved to be as the first half was played.

Dawlish got the lead 20 minutes into the game and, on the run of play, Offwell got an equaliser by Louis Grant, placing the ball into the net.

The second half was a lot brighter from Offwell with better football being played.

When Jamie Doidge scored to put Offwell into the lead, a solid defensive unit kept Dawlish out as Offwell dug deep to keep hold of the win.

Man of the match was chosen by the 102 bar who gave this to Andrew Lord who was solid throughout the whole game.

HONITON HORNETS HOCKEY CLUB

HHHC 7
Ashmoor 2nds 0

THIS weekend's fixture for Honiton was at home to the West Dartmouth side and it proved to be a fairly straight forward game against a very young side (eight players were all of secondary school age).

This group of youngsters played with great determination and were in no way fazed by the experience, giving an excellent account of themselves throughout (the young goal keeper, in particular, needing special mention, since without her splendidly calm and mature efforts the scoreline against her side would have been much higher).

Four goals were scored by the home side during the first half; and a further three in the second half.

Each of the goals hit the backboard in a resounding manner. The team played with enthusiasm and skill using the whole pitch and each other to achieve interesting and constructive patterns of play.

The scorers were Becky Bond, Sophie George and Jean Herniman with two goals each and Lucy Le Cocq, one.

Practices continue to take place each Tuesday evening from 8pm-9.30pm at Cullompton (by kind invitation of, and in conjunction with, Culm Vale Hornets Hockey Club). Transport leaves from Dowell Street Car Park at 7.30pm. If any girls (over 16) or ladies would like to join these sessions, and require transport, please be at the meeting place by 7.30pm.

UPLYME FIGHT HARD BUT END WITH 5-0 LOSS

By KEVIN FAHEY
 sport.pulmans@tindlenews.co.uk

Perry Street League Division Two
Uplyme 0
Beaminster Reserves 5

BEAMINSTER Reserves manager Robin Ormsby believes his side is good enough to lift the Division Two title this season.

The five-goal win at Uplyme kept the Dorset club top of the table by just a single point from unbeaten Shepton Beauchamp, with the two sides still to meet at the Memorial Playing Fields.

"We have nine games left and seven of those are at home and as we have only lost three or four games at our place in the last few years I am very confident we will take the points," said Ormsby.

"From where we are now I would certainly be very disappointed if we finished runners-up even though that would still get us promotion. I want us to go up as champions."

Ormsby's side showed championship form in the second half of Saturday's match after a slow start to the game. A Ross Pickett penalty was the only score at half-time as Uplyme fought tenaciously to make life very difficult for the league leaders.

"Uplyme are not a bad side and it is always a difficult place to come and get a result," admitted Ormsby.

But after the interval Beaminster made their class tell with further strikes from Dan Tolman (two), Dan Pyett and a second for Pickett.

"We were comfortable at the end, as we probably should be having had a settled side for the past four years and apart from the goal scorers I would also pick out midfielder Lee Gillard for a man-of-the-match performance," added Ormsby.
